Heritage Tales Collection 2024

Three journeys, one destination:

The heart of the artisan.

Immerse your living space in a tapestry of cultural narratives with three unique collections. These three collections transport you to a place of historical beauty and rich cultural heritage.

From the English Glasshouse's celebration of the charm of the countryside, inspired by lush meadows and heritage designs, to the Folk Tale Collection's homage to global traditional patterns, including influences from Persia and Paris, each collection reflects a timeless elegance.

Embark on a global journey with the Global Treasures Collection, capturing the beauty and essence of ancient worlds like the Mughal empire and forgotten Indian gardens. Whether you want calming, soft colours or bold, rich jewel tones in your home, this digitally printed collection has something for everyone. With a wealth of diverse patterns, alongside an array of beautifully tactile plains, Heritage Tales makes it easy to create a unique and stylish look for your home.

Each design celebrates the hand of the artisan and is deeply rooted in historical and cultural tradition. Whether drawing inspiration from English heritage, global traditions, or ancient treasures, these stories invite you to transform your space into a sanctuary of refined elegance and artistic richness.

Lining Fabrics

Lining Options - Sateen Twill

- Made from 70% polyester / 30% cotton
- The standard sateen twill lining is superior in quality to that of competitors linings and on a par with the 'superior' lining quality offered by established retailers.

Lining Options - Solprufe

- Made from 100% cotton
- It is a thicker and smoother lining than the standard sateen twill and so provides superior drape, crease-resistance, insulation, and greater protection from sunlight.
- Available in white and cream so the customer can tailor the lining colour more specifically to their curtain colour.

Lining Options - Thermal

- Made from 65% polyester / 35% cotton with a thin, rubberised backing applied to the lining fabric; this fills in any tiny spaces in the weave and as a result...
- Helps to prevent the heat in the room escaping out through the curtains. Helps to prevent draughts entering into the room.

Lining Options - Blackout

- Made from 70% polyester / 30% cotton with a back coating applied 3 times (known as a "3 Pass" lining) to achieve zero light show-through (total blackout).
- All insulation benefits of Thermal.
- Great for bedrooms in general, particularly children's bedrooms, and shift workers who need to sleep during the day.

How to measure for curtains

Measuring the width

Already have a pole?

Measure the width of the pole between any decorative finials or end caps.

No pole in place?

Measure the width of the window reveal, then add to this how far you would like your curtains to run past each side of the window reveal.

Measuring the length (drop)

What length of curtain will suit your windows?

Do you want them to finish at the sill, below the sill or fall to the floor?

At the sill: Measure from the top of the pole to 1cm above the sill. Add on 4cm for the fabric that will sit above the curtain pole. This is the measurement we require.

Below the sill: Measure from the top of the pole to the required length below the sill (usually 15 – 20 cm). If you have a radiator below your sill, measure to 3cm above the radiator. Add on 4cm for the fabric that will sit above the curtain pole.

This is the measurement we require.

To the floor: Measure from the top of the pole to 1.5cm above the floor.

This prevents the curtain dragging on the floor or becoming soiled or damaged.

If you want your curtains to drape on to the floor, add to this measurement how far you would like your curtains to drape. Add on 4cm for the fabric that will sit above the curtain pole. This is the measurement we require.

How to measure for pinch pleat and pencil pleat curtains

Measuring the width

Already have a pole or track? Measure the width of the pole between any decorative finials or end caps OR the width of your track.

No pole or track in place?

Measure the width of the window reveal, then add to this how far you would like your curtains to run past each side of the window reveal.

Measuring the length (drop)

What length of curtain will suit your windows?

Do you want them to finish at the sill, below the sill or fall to the floor?

If you are using a curtain track:

To the sill: Measure from the top of the track to 1cm above the sill.

Below the sill: Measure from the top of the track to the required length below the sill (usually 15 – 20 cm). If you have a radiator below your sill, measure to 3cm above the radiator.

To the floor: Measure from the top of the track to 1.5cm above the floor. This prevents the curtain dragging on the floor or becoming soiled or damaged. If you want your curtains to drape on to the floor, add to this measurement how far you would like your curtains to drape.

If you are using a curtain pole:

To the sill: Measure from the underside of the pole ring to 1cm above the sill..

Below the sill: Measure from the underside of the pole ring to the required length below the sill (usually 15 – 20 cm). If you have a radiator below your sill, measure to 3cm above the radiator.

To the floor: Measure from the underside of the pole ring to 1.5cm above the floor. This prevents the curtain dragging on the floor or becoming soiled or damaged.

If you want your curtains to drape on to the floor, add to this measurement how far you would like your curtains to drape.

How to measure for roman blinds

Measuring the width

Decide whether or not you want your blind to fit inside the window reveal or outside the window reveal.

Outside the window reveal:

Measure the width of the window reveal and add to this how far you would like your blind to run past each side of the window reveal. To minimise light leakage we recommend that the blind overlaps the window recess by a minimum of 7cm at the top and 5cm at each side.

Inside the window reveal:

Measure the width of the window reveal at the top, centre and bottom. Take the smallest measurement. We will adjust from this measurement to ensure the blinds do not catch the side of the reveal when raised or lowered.

Measuring the length (drop)

Outside the window reveal:

Measure from the top of where you would like the blind to be to your desired length. The overlap at the bottom of the blind is personal choice but remember to take account of obstacles such as radiators.

Inside the window reveal:

Measure the height of the window reveal at the left hand side, centre and right hand side and give the smallest measurement.

Curtain headers

There are a number of header styles to choose from, including pencil pleat, pinch pleat or eyelets. All of our curtains come fully lined as standard with sateen twill, or you can upgrade to one of our performance linings, such as blackout or thermal.

Pinch pleat (triple)

Eyelet

(available in six colours satin silver, nickel, brass, gun metal, old gold, old copper)

Pencil pleat (3' tape)

3" tape

3" tape pencil pleat is the standard heading for curtains. A 7.5cm (3") tape is used with three hook positions to suit all types of track and pole. Curtains are supplied un-gathered for you to gather to the required width.

Curtains: Pinch Pleat

Pinch pleat is a decorative heading for curtains, suitable only for curtain poles. Pinch pleat is a more traditional heading having permanent sewn-in-pleats for a more luxurious, tailored look and are delivered ready to hang.

Adjustable metal hooks are fitted into each pleat. When ordering pinch pleat curtains, we need the exact pole width measuring between the finials. It is important this measurement is correct as pinch pleat heading is sewn in and therefore fixed. It is not possible to adjust this heading once it is made. We will gather your curtains to the correct size to fit your pole. Please state either triple pleat or double pleat heading on your order.

Please note that on a standard triple pinch pleat heading there will be 4 pleats per width. On a double pinch pleat heading there will be 6 pleats per width.

Recommended number of widths per pair (double fullness)

Roman Blinds

All roman blinds are fully lined and are supplied complete with aluminium head rail and brackets ready for hanging. All roman blinds are lined with sateen twill lining as standard.

Alternative linings

Roman blinds can also be made with a choice of alternative linings.

Please choose from solprufe, thermal, blackout or supersoft.

Further prices can be found in this book.

Blackout lining

Please note that with blackout lining some light will still be visible around the edges of the blind. We recommend that blinds extend approx. 10cm beyond the window recess on all sides. Some light will also be visible along the stitch lines and this is unavoidable.

Premier head rail

Our 'premier' head rail is a fully enclosed system with a sidewinder mechanism.

A pulley chain is used to operate the blind.

Chains

Please select either a right hand or left hand control position for the blind (if no selection is given a standard right hand control will be installed).

The customer is also required to choose a silver or white chain

(if no selection is given a standard silver chain will be installed).

To allow us to comply with current health and safety legislation, please supply the following information when ordering:

- Installation Height: Measurement from the top of the blind to the floor.
- Overall Drop of Blind: Measurement taken from the top of the blind to the bottom of the blind.

Blinds

Blinds can be fitted on either the inside or outside of a window recess. We recommend you position your blind outside the recess if the window is not straight to avoid the blind catching or hanging incorrectly. Another reason for having the blind on the outside would be if your window opens inwards. If more than one blind is being fitted to a window (for example in a bay window), please order the blind size required for each window as this may vary.

1) Measure the width

To fit your blind inside the recess: If ordering a blind to fit inside the recess, measure the width of the recess in 3 different positions. Supply the smallest width on the order form and we will make the necessary allowances for you by deducting 0.5cm.

Please note any protrusions (such as tiles and wooden rails) and take the smallest width and drop measurement.

To fit your blind outside the recess: Simply measure where you would like the blind to sit and supply that measurement. No allowance will be made and the dimensions supplied will include head rail and brackets.

We recommend that a blind does not extend more than 10cm either side of the window and approximately 10cm above and below. If the window ledge protrudes out we suggest that the blind sits just above or on the sill once closed.

2) Measure for the finished drop

To fit it to the recess: Measure the recess drop in 3 different positions. Supply the smallest drop on the order form.

On the outside of the window (i.e. blind size):

Simply measure where you would like the blind to sit and supply that measurement.

3) Choose your fabric and note the price category.

4) Select which lining you require and find your price on the following pages.

Fabric by the metre

Fabric can be ordered by the metre as cut lengths, or full pieces. Please inspect the fabric for quality and colour upon receipt of your order as no claim can be accepted after cutting. Please see our separate fabric price list for further information.

Colour matching

Due to variations in dye from batch to batch, we can't guarantee an exact shade match on different orders or against curtain samples. We will always shade match within the same order.

Shrinkage

All fabrics are liable to shrinkage up to 5% when washed or dry cleaned. Always follow the washing instructions found in the care label. Atmospheric shrinkage can occur between seasons depending on changing temperature and humidity; this is not a fault of the fabric and can't always be avoided. Lined products should not be washed as the curtain fabric and lining may shrink at a slightly different rate, potentially causing the lining to hang below the curtain fabric, or create tension on the side seam. A guide to hanging and caring for your curtains is enclosed with all orders, which we recommend is kept for future reference.

Pattern repeats

Pattern repeats on all fabrics are approximate and may vary from batch to batch.

Please ensure that you allow sufficient fabric to cover your requirements if ordering fabric by the metre. We suggest customers add one full pattern repeat on cut length orders.

Pattern matching

All curtains will be pattern matched from the top, unless otherwise stated. If multiple pairs of curtains or roman blinds are required for the same room, please state pattern match from the top on the order.

Pattern matching means that when the curtains are hung, the pattern is the same position horizontally across the curtains. No curtains can match edges as the fabric is turned at the sides to form the side hem. Pattern matching on seams is as close as can be achieved. It is not always possible to guarantee an exact pattern match on joins and seams.

Embroidered fabrics

Please note that embroidery fabrics have a usable width and the embroidery does not run the full width of the piece.

Joins

All curtains wider than 127cm are made from multiple joined widths of fabric. Joins will be pattern matched as standard.

Caring for your made to order products

When you unpack made to order product, there may be creasing or pressure marks. These will normally fall out quickly after hanging in a warm room. Alternatively, your product (unless made from a velvet fabric) may be lightly ironed with a warm dry iron on the reverse side. Hems and sides should never be pressed. Steam and excessive pressure or temperature should be avoided as these can stretch or shrink the fabric. The cords on pencil pleat curtains must be tied at the end before the heading can be gathered. To improve the drape of your curtains we recommend that once they have been dressed into an even fold, they be loosely tied with ribbon in two or three places. This will encourage the curtains to retain an even fold when the ties are released.

Ordering single curtains

Single curtains are available in all fabrics. When the curtain is 127cm wide (1 width), 254cm wide (2 width) or 380cm wide (3 width), single curtains are available at 50% of the price of a pair of curtains. Single curtains that are either 190cm wide (1.5 widths) or 317cm wide (2.5 widths) need to be priced at the next full width price. For example, 1 single curtain that is ordered as 190cm wide (1.5 width) will be charged at 50% the price of a 254cm wide (2 width).

Ordering smaller curtains

We can make a pair of 0.5 width curtains. This would be charged at half the price of the 1 width price. However, we can't cut widths down any other integer, for example to 0.75 width.
